

The Technology

is morally right if

it respects
central principles and duties, which are

held
up

by you as an individual

The Technology

is morally right if

it leads to the best outcomes
and consequences

for

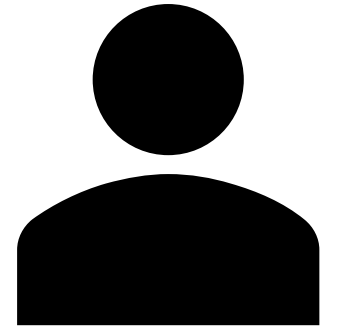

society

The Technology

is morally right if

it increases
pleasure,
wellbeing or promotes a
good life

for

you as an individual

The Technology

is morally right if

it was developed by someone with high moral standards

The Technology

is morally right if

it not violates
important
social aspects,
like mutually established
contracts

in the

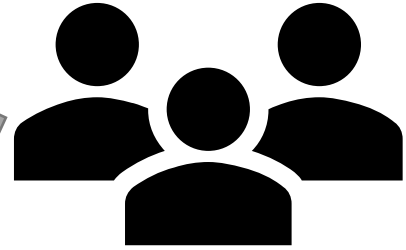

society

The Technology

moral evaluation

depends on social, cultural and political contexts in which it is applied.

Evaluation
differs for

Evaluation
differs for

Evaluation
differs for

different groups
or people